DETAILED ACTION

Receipt of the IDS filed 10/21/05 is acknowledged. The design reference is listed on the PTO-892 mailed in the last Office action. The other two U. S. references have been considered. The Japanese reference and five non-patent literature references have not been considered. Parent file 10/254,047 is not on image file wrapper or at the warehouse and thus could not be retrieved. If applicants want these references considered in the instant case they should provide copies.

Receipt of the terminal disclaimer filed 10/21/05 is acknowledged. Since it was signed by an attorney not of record in the instant case, it has not been approved.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1, 2 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rayner in view of newly cited Page and newly cited Morrison.

It would have been obvious to substitute tracks for the wheels in Rayner in view of the teaching in Page to enhance traction.

It would also have been obvious to removably mount the operator supports in Rayner in view of the teaching in Morrison to provide diversity. See Morrison figures 1 and 5.

Claims 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rayner in view of newly cited Page and newly cited Morrison as applied to claim 2 above, and further in view of Bamford.

It would have been obvious to use a one arm arrangement in Rayner in lieu of a two arm arrangement in view of the one arm arrangement taught by Bamford.

Regarding claim 4, whether the arm were located on the right or left side of the frame would have been an obvious matter of choice since one arrangement provides no unobvious result over the other.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1, 2, 5 and 6 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 3-11 of U.S. Patent No. 6709223. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the instant claims are broader renditions of the patented claims and if issued would preclude practice of the invention in the patented claims once the patent term expired.

Claims 3 and 4 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 3-11 of U.S. Patent No. 6709223 in view of Bamford.

It would have been obvious to use a single arm in the invention in claims 3-11 of the patent in view of the teaching in Bamford to use a single arm.

Claims 7-12 are allowed.

Applicant's remarks have been carefully considered but are not deemed persuasive. While the examiner is of the opinion that the claim language walk behind does not define over Raynor since a tall person could walk behind Raynor's device Morrison has been cited to show that it is well known to walk behind, sit behind or stand behind a device for operation.
